k) Entry fees:

For Bundeswehr personnel, the provisions laid down in General Publication A2-1300/0-0-2 „Die Reserve" ("The Reserve") shall apply (entry fees are neither charged nor reimbursed).

l) Note for reservists

Bundeswehr reservists will be called up and invited following successful registration via the Regional Territorial Command North Rhine-Westphalia. Upon request by the sending units, all necessary information must be submitted to the Sergeant in charge of Reservist Affairs in Mönchengladbach.

In addition, we would like to point out that the legal status of reservists from NATO nations is based on the NATO Status of Forces Agreement.

Furthermore, we kindly ask you to submit a request for visit/entry through your military attaché should you accept the invitation.

m) Note for active-duty service members

Bundeswehr service members participating in the Competition must present a declaration of consent of their disciplinary superior. The sending units shall be responsible for the settlement of costs incurred by service members.

n) Safety regulations

All participants and administrative staff will be briefed on the relevant Bundeswehr safety regulations on the day of the event. Contestants will be required to use ear protection and shooting glasses during the shooting competition. The safety briefing will be given by the officer in charge before the start of the Competition. Team leaders will be responsible for ensuring compliance with these regulations and instructions.

Organising and administrative staff (wearing white/red brassards, respectively) are authorised to give instructions to all participants; their instructions must be followed at all times.

An invitation to this Competition does not entitle civilian guests to assert any claims whatsoever against the Bundeswehr.

Subject to change due to current hygiene requirements.
